Mac Barnett

Sharing books is one of the most important ways you can help children get ready to read. Reading together helps children learn how books work and increases their vocabulary. Children who enjoy being read to are also more likely to want to learn to read themselves.

Look for books that have:

- Concepts - letters, colors, shapes, sizes, opposites, counting and numbers
- Familiar Topics - going to school, making friends
- Real Stuff - dinosaurs, trucks, pets, and other personal interests
- Humor - kids love to laugh and funny stories can be a great reading motivator
